

CONTENTS

Figures and Tables xii

Text Boxes xiii

Preface xiv

Chapter 1 POWER 1

Metaphors and Paradox: Sociological Tools in the Study of Power 2

Power: The Fundamental Concept in Political Sociology 4

Metaphors of Power Arrangements 5

The Conceptualization of Power in Political Sociology 10

Pluralist 11

Elite-Managerial 14

Social Class and Politics 17

The Traditional Frameworks Today 23

New Directions after the Traditional Frameworks 24

Rational Choice 25

Political Culture 26

Institutionalist 28

Postmodern Political Sociology 29

Conclusion 32

Power Is Concentrated in Democratic Societies 33

Power Operates in Direct but Also Indirect Ways 34

Politics Is Not Just about the State but All Social Relations 34

References 36

Chapter 2 ROLE OF THE STATE 39

What Is the Modern Nation-State? 40

Defining the State 40

Emergence of States 42

Differentiating Government from the State 44

Features of Stateness 47

Differentiating Nation and State 47

Emergence of Nations 49

Different Forms of the Nation-State 50

Democracy 51

Democracy and Undemocratic Practices 51

Undemocratic State Forms 53

Theoretical Views on the State 55

Pluralism 55

Elite Views of the State 56

Class-Based Views of the State 58

Updated Marxist Theories of the State 60

State-Centric	62
Political Institutional or Institutionalist	63
Other Emerging Views of the State	65
Rational Choice	65
Postmodern	65
The Welfare State	66
Types of Welfare States	66
Role of Race and Gender	67
Future of the State	67
Conclusion	68
Endnotes	69
References	70
Chapter 3 POLITICS, CULTURE, AND SOCIAL PROCESSES	75
Culture and Politics	75
Politics, Culture, and Theoretical Frameworks	78
Pluralist	79
Elite-Managerial	80
Class Perspective	81
Rational Choice	83
Institutionalist	84
Postmodern	85
Political Socialization	87
Values and Democracy	91
Modernization and Value Shifts	91
Ideology, Beliefs, and Public Opinion	94
Sources of Political Culture	100
Religion, Political Values, and Ideology	100
Media and Political Culture	104
Media and Political Knowledge	105
Media and Political Values	108
Politics, Symbolism, and Performance	110
Political Culture and Place	111
Nationalism	114
Conclusion	117
References	118
Chapter 4 THE POLITICS OF EVERYDAY LIFE: POLITICAL ECONOMY	123
Theoretical Frameworks	125
Pluralist	125
Elite-Managerial	125
Class/Marxist	126
Postmodern	126
Rational Choice	126
Institutionalist	128
Class-Domination Theory of Power	128

Capitalism and Democracy	129
Neoliberalism	130
The Great Recession	131
Causes of the Great Recession	133
Government Policy Responses	135
Consequences of the GR	136
The Middle Class	139
Taxation	141
Taxes on Individuals	143
Corporate Taxation	144
International Comparison Regarding Taxation	146
Summary	146
The Welfare State	147
Corporate Welfare	147
Social Security	147
Public Assistance	148
Debt and Bankruptcy	153
Household Debt	154
Student Debt	155
Who Goes Bankrupt and Why?	157
Infrastructure	159
Bridges	161
Levees	163
Hurricanes	163
Hurricane Sandy	165
Conclusion	167
Endnotes	168
References	168
Chapter 5 THE POLITICS OF EVERYDAY LIFE: SOCIAL INSTITUTIONS AND SOCIAL RELATIONS	176
Education	176
Charter Schools	178
A Note on School Violence and Shootings	180
Marriage and Family	181
Family Law	181
Same-Sex Marriage	182
Health Care	190
Theoretical Frameworks	191
U.S. Health Care Uniqueness	192
The Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act	193
Public Opinion on the ACA	195
Civil Liberties and National Security	196
Twenty-First Century: War on Terror	199
Public Opinion on National Security, Civil Liberties, and Snowden	201
Race and Ethnic Relations in the Racial State	202

Theoretical Frameworks	202
Explaining the Racial State	203
Color-Blind Policies	204
Racial Identity	205
The Racial State, Law Enforcement, and Black Lives Matter	205
Public Opinion	208
The Racial State, Law Enforcement, White Nationalists, and Counter-Protesters	209
Immigration: A Major Ethnic and Racial Issue Facing the United States	213
Zero Tolerance and Separation of Families	215
Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals	217
Muslim Americans	218
Advantages and Disadvantages of Immigration	220
Public Opinion	222
Public Opinion and Muslim Americans	224
Summary	225
Politics and Sports	225
Conclusion	230
Endnotes	231
References	231

Chapter 6 POLITICAL PARTICIPATION 243

Political Participation as Power	243
Theoretical Frameworks	246
Pluralist	246
Elite-Managerial	249
Class	251
Rational Choice	252
Postmodern	253
Political Participation and Its Many Forms	255
Early Typologies of Political Participation	255
Contemporary Typologies of Political Participation	258
Institutional Forms of Political Participation	259
Campaigning and Canvassing	260
Political Talk/Political Discourse	261
Political Participation and Social Media	263
Noninstitutional Forms of Political Participation	264
Graffiti	265
Protest and Demonstrations	267
Social, Political, and Revolutionary Movements	271
Group Context, Social Networks, and Participation	274
Politics and Social Capital	275
Themes in Research on Social Capital and Political Participation	277
The Changing Nature of Political Participation	278
Conclusion	281
References	281

Chapter 7 ELECTIONS AND VOTING 286Theoretical Frameworks 287

Pluralist 287

Elite-Managerial 287

Class 287

Rational Choice 288

Postmodern 288

Institutionalist and Political Culture 288

The Functions of Elections 289Electoral Systems and Turnout 290*Voting Behavior Research 294*Social Cleavages or Characteristics 295

Social Class 295

Gender Gap 299

Racial Cleavages 300

Religious Cleavages 302

Political Views and Issue-Based Voting 304

Liberalism and Conservatism 306

Partisanship 307

U.S. National Elections 309

2000 Presidential Election 313

2004 Presidential Election 315

2006 Midterm Election 315

2008 Presidential Election 315

2010 Midterm Election 319

2012 Presidential Election 320

2014 Midterm Election 320

2016 National Election 321

2018 Midterm Election 338

Voting and Elections Other than United States 339

Conclusion 340

Endnotes 341

References 341

Chapter 8 SOCIAL MOVEMENTS 351Definition of Social Movement 352*Theoretical Frameworks 353

Pluralism and the Classical Collective Behavior Model of Social Movements 354

Elite Theory and Resource Mobilization 354

Class Framework or the Political Process Model 354

Rational Choice 355

Postmodern 356

Old and New Social Movements 356

Post-Materialism, Polarization, and NSMs: Emergence of the Tea Party and Occupy Wall Street 358

Collective Action Frames and Local Land Use 358

Criticisms of NSMs 360

Other Approaches to Movements 360

 Collective Identity 360

 Framing 361

 Emotions 366

Toward a Synthesis of Structuralist, Rationalist, and Culturalist Frameworks 368

The Life Cycle of Social Movements 369

 Social Movement Emergence and Mobilization 370

 Mobilizing Structures and Networks 373

 Social Movement Outcomes, Influence, and Decline 375

 Social Media as a Tool for Mobilization: Occupy and Black Lives Matter 378

 Repression: The State's Reaction to Movements 381

Globalization and Transnational Movements 381

Conclusion: Social Movements as Part of Political Sociology 383

Endnotes 384

References 384

Chapter 9 VIOLENCE AND TERRORISM 390

Political Uses of Hate 391

Genocide 391

 Defining Genocide 391

 Conditions for Genocide 393

 Sociological Causes of Genocide 393

War Making 396

 Theoretical Views on War Making 396

 Future of War Making 397

 New Wars 398

Terrorism 399

 Defining Terrorism 403

 Labeling Terrorism 404

 Types of Terrorism 406

 Critical Perspective on Terrorism 410

Terrorism and Sociological Theories 413

 Collective Action Theory 413

 Political Economy 414

 World Systems Perspective 415

 Framing 416

 Categorical Terrorism 417

Causes of Terrorism 417

 Microdynamic and Social Psychological Variables 418

 Mesodynamic 418

 Macrodynamic or Structural 420

Responding to Terrorism 423

 Security and Response 424

 Repression 424

 Alleviating Structural Causes 426

Eliminating Political Opportunities	426
Peacebuilding	426
The Future of Terrorism	427
Optimistic View	427
Pessimistic View	428
Future Directions	428
Research	428
Conclusion	429
Endnotes	430
References	431
Chapter 10 GLOBALIZATION	438
What is Globalization?	439
Defining Globalization	439
Critique of the Term	440
Components of Globalization	440
Theoretical Perspectives on Globalization	446
World Systems Theory	447
Theories of Global Capitalism	448
Postmodern Views on Globalization	449
Network Society	450
Cultural Theories of Globalization	451
McDonaldization Thesis	452
Globalization Debates	453
Is Globalization Occurring?	453
What Is the Evidence for Globalization?	455
Impact of Globalization on the Nation-State	458
Withering State Debate	458
Strong-State–Weak-State Thesis	459
Competing Globalization Camps	460
Theoretical Views on State Power	460
Public Policy	464
Welfare State	466
Nationalism	466
Democracy and Globalization	468
Is Democracy Spreading?	469
Role of Globalization	469
Exporting Democracy	471
Antiglobalization Movements	472
Future of Globalization	476
Future Trends	476
Future Sociological Research on Globalization	477
Conclusion	478
Endnotes	479
References	480