

CONTENTS

Contributors	ix
Acknowledgments	xiv
Introduction: food embodiments, assemblages and intersubjectivities: ebbs and flows of critical food studies Alberto Arce, Stephen Sherwood, and Myriam Paredes	1
1 Embodiment and reflexivity: gaining insight into food lifeways through the chili cook-off in Ajijic, Mexico Eleanor Fisher, Alberto Arce, and F. Vladimir Díaz Copado	21
2 Creating healthy bodies in rural Ecuador at a time of dietary shift Joan Gross, Carla Guerrón Montero, Michaela Hammer, and Peter Berti	34
3 Finding the food by hiding the gold: Andoque abundance, mining, and food in the Colombian Amazon Camilo Torres and Gerard Verschoor	48
4 Encounters with the Brazilian soybean boom: transnational farmers and the Cerrado Andrew Ofstehage	60

- 5 Affective struggles in the desert: bringing water to bear on agriculture and food 73
Horacio Narváez-Mena
- 6 People, cows and milking machines: public policy and intersubjectivity in Ecuador 86
Nicolás Vasconcellos
- 7 Forgive me for being human: Wirikuta nomadism and rebellious Peyote 99
Oscar F. Reyna
- 8 Feeding paradise? Corporeal food citizenship in the Galapagos 114
Christine Franke, Jessica Duncan, and Stephen Sherwood
- 9 Unfolding agencies and associations of agroecology networks in Brazil 126
Flávia Charão-Marques, Claudia Job Schmitt, and Daniela Oliveira
- 10 Deepening relationships through bio-intensive food: AgroSano in Oaxaca 141
Charlynn Curiel
- 11 Public good: wheat assemblages and the revalorization of culinary and handicraft in Bio-Bio, Chile 153
Paola Silva, Maruja Cortés Belmar, and Alberto Arce
- 12 Affectivity in public procurement: the case of New Dawn Cooperative and the elderly in Argentina 169
María Laura Viteri
- 13 Assembling responsible food markets: the case of Cooperativa La Manzana in southern Chile 184
Gustavo Blanco, Jilles van Gastel, and Andrés Lagarrigue
- 14 250,000 Families Campaign: the existence of flavor and taste 198
Stephen Sherwood, Ana Deaconu, and Myriam Paredes
- 15 Conclusion: the vitality of everyday food 211
Stephen Sherwood, Eleanor Fisher, and Alberto Arce