

CONTENTS

Acknowledgements

x

Introduction: Cultural disability studies in education:

Fields, representations, and social aesthetics

1

Introduction: Social sciences, humanities, and education 1

The tripartite model of disability: A critical framework 3

Navigations of the normative divide: Social aesthetics and cultural representations 7

Conclusion: Cultural Disability Studies in Education 10

1 Visions from the yellow decade: Disability, aesthetics, and residual existence

15

Preliminary discussion: Disability studies and aesthetics 15

Divided and divided again: The imaginary of doom and gloom 16

Shambolic but symbolic: Revolutionary misrepresentation 19

Not so novel: The resonance of pre-surrealism and realism 21

Concluding discussion: Oculanormative aesthetics 23

Indicative questions 24

2 From sideshow to cinema: Disability, film, and horrification

26

Preliminary discussion: Disability studies and film studies 26

Narrative with a vengeance: One of us 27

Nightmare scenario: From children to monsters 30

Behind the monster: Unexpected praise 32

Concluding discussion: Horrification and society 33

Indicative questions 34

3 Remembering the drowned and the saved: Disability, Holocaust, and the inadequacies of representation	37
Preliminary discussion: Disability studies and Holocaust studies	37
Realities of representation: Classic and critical approaches	38
Learning from Levi: Humanity, criticality, and dignity	40
Keeping the lessons alive: The necessity of multiplicity	43
Concluding discussion: Supplementing the moral imperative	45
Indicative questions	47
4 In the log house: Disability, gender, and resistance to social norms	49
Preliminary discussion: Disability studies and gender studies	49
Identity politics: Gender, disability, and juxtapositions	50
Unhappy accident: Left bereft	52
Man and boy: From trivialisation to infantilisation	55
Concluding discussion: Her and him	57
Indicative questions	58
5 Stuff happens: Disability, happiness, and the pursuit of cure	61
Preliminary discussion: Disability studies and happiness studies	61
The shock of happiness: Blindness is bliss	62
It might never happen: From contentment to uncertainty	65
As it happens: Life writing	67
Concluding discussion: Happiness-cure synonymy	68
Indicative questions	69
6 End of the rock star: Disability, music, and the passage of time	73
Preliminary discussion: Disability studies and popular music studies	73
Rock star persona: Now and then	74
Revolutionary representation: From normative to non-normative positivisms	79
Concluding discussion: The heroes and casualties of tragic representation	80
Indicative questions	82
7 One of the crowd: Disability, humour, and the contradictions of comedy	85
Preliminary discussion: Disability studies and humour studies	85
How everyone talks: Disabling language	86
Here today: Disabling narrative	89

Concluding discussion: Latent disability humour 92

Indicative questions 93

8 On the campaign trail: Disability, mass media, and levels of representation 96

Preliminary discussion: Disability studies and media studies 96

Real beauty and real blindness: Wonderful representation 97

The sighted face of blindness: Fearful and pitiful representation 100

Dramatics and problematics: Nothing more than need 103

Concluding discussion: The need for multifaceted representation 104

Indicative questions 105

Epilogue 109

Glossary of terms 114

Index 116