

Chapter 13	Section 2
Use of Facebook in Primary Instructional Delivery.....		258
Inmaculada Gómez-Hurtado, University of Huelva, Spain

Table of Contents

Chapter 14
Virtual Laboratory Work for Discovering Gas Solubility.....		109
Pierluigi Rippe, University of Naples Federico II, Italy
Celia Román Livermore, Wayne State University, USA
Mahesh S. Raisinghani, Texas Woman's University, USA
The Politics of E-Learning: A Theoretical Model
Chapter 6
Foreword
xx
Chapter 15
Preface
xx
Chapter 8
Affect in Online Learning: Outcomes, Emotions, and Affective States
Chapter 7
Affect in Online Learning: Outcomes, Emotions, and Affective States
Chapter 16
Acknowledgment
xxix

Section 1

Online Pedagogy and Instructional Design

Chapter 1
Emergent Technologies Shaping Instructional Design.....		1
Pascal Roubides, Broward College, USA
Chapter 2
Values and Purposes in Digital Pedagogies: A Meta-Analysis on Finnish and Greek Teachers' Metaphorical Thinking.....		25
Marianna Vivitsou, University of Helsinki, Finland
Chapter 3
Using Web 2.0 Tools to Engage Content, Promote Self-Efficacy, and Implications for Intentional Student Learning.....		42
Paul Parkison, University of North Florida, USA
Jeff Thomas, University of Southern Indiana, USA
Chapter 4
A Methodology to Design and Evaluate Agents: The Study Language Agent Case.....		63
Silvia Tamayo-Moreno, Universidad Rey Juan Carlos, Spain
Diana Pérez-Marín, Universidad Rey Juan Carlos, Spain
Chapter 5
Still Forgotten Teachers in K-12 Online Learning: Examining the Perceptions of Teachers Who Develop K-12 Online Courses.....		88
Michael K. Barbour, Touro University California, USA
David Adelstein, VIPKID, China
Jonathan Morrison, Urbana School District #116, USA

Section 2

Online Pedagogy and Managing Instructional Delivery

Chapter 6

The Politics of E-Learning: A Theoretical Model 109

Mahesh S. Raisinghani, Texas Woman's University, USA

Celia Romm Livermore, Wayne State University, USA

Pierluigi Rippa, University of Naples Federico II, Italy

Chapter 7

Affect in Online Learning: Outcomes, Emotions, and Affective States 128

Wendy Fasso, Central Queensland University, Australia

Bruce Allen Knight, Central Queensland University, Australia

Chapter 8

Tutors' Perspectives on Online Facilitation of ESL Courses in Distance Education 154

Li Hsien Ooi, Wawasan Open University, Malaysia

Lay Huah Goh, HELP University, Malaysia

Arathai Din Eak, Wawasan Open University, Malaysia

Cheng Teik Ong, Wawasan Open University, Malaysia

Chapter 9

Student and Instructors Perceptions of Helpful Feedback for Asynchronous Online Learning:

What Students Want From Instructor Feedback 177

Susan Shedd Conrad, Marymount University, USA

Nada Dabbagh, George Mason University, USA

Chapter 10

Fostering EFL Learners' Reading Comprehension Through a Web-Based Cumulative Sentence
Analysis (CSA) System..... 202

Yea-Ru Tsai, I-Shou University, Taiwan

Section 3

Online Pedagogy for Social Media

Chapter 11

The Impact of Instructor Twitter Use on Course Performance Indicators: A Quasi-Experiment
Within Higher Education Communications Courses..... 222

Eric M. Fife, James Madison University, USA

C. Leigh Nelson, James Madison University, USA

Theresa B. Clarke, James Madison University, USA

Chapter 12

Understanding Primary School Students' Motivations in Using Blogs..... 237

Gina May Yuen Ong, Ministry of Education, Singapore

Wing Sum Cheung, Nanyang Technological University, Singapore

Chapter 13

Use of Facebook in Primary Teacher Training: Experimental Analysis 258

Inmaculada Gómez-Hurtado, University of Huelva, Spain

Paul Parkison, University of North Carolina

Jeff Thomas, University of Southern Indiana

Section 4

Innovative Applications of Online Pedagogy

This chapter defines Web 2.0 tools, their use in student learning, results from a study with university students, and their implications for intentional student learning. Treatment subjects used

Virtual Laboratory Work for Discovering Gas Solubility in Water: Effects of Altered Guiding

Structures 281

Göran Karlsson, Halmstad University, Sweden

read. Forwarded to students about being ready to discuss the material. One inference was how contribution to in-class work, and comprehension of the material. One inference was how time investment, instructors might increase student in-class participation using a Web 2.0

Case Study of HyFlex Course Design: Benefits and Challenges for Graduate Students 298

Mariam Mousa Matta Abdelmalak, Assiut University, Egypt

Julia Lynn Parra, New Mexico State University, USA

Acknowledgment

Section 1

Collaboration-Driven Management Education 318

Owen Hall Jr., Pepperdine University, USA

Ken Ko, Pepperdine University, USA

Chapter 1

Emergent Technologies Shaping Instructional Design

Emergent Technologies Shaping Instructional Design

Chapter 1

Emergent Technologies Shaping Instructional Design

Chapter 1

Emergent Technologies Shaping Instructional Design

Chapter 1

Emergent Technologies Shaping Instructional Design

Chapter 1

Emergent Technologies Shaping Instructional Design

Chapter 1

Emergent Technologies Shaping Instructional Design

Chapter 1

Emergent Technologies Shaping Instructional Design

Chapter 1

Emergent Technologies Shaping Instructional Design

Chapter 1

Emergent Technologies Shaping Instructional Design

Chapter 1

Emergent Technologies Shaping Instructional Design

Chapter 1

Emergent Technologies Shaping Instructional Design

Chapter 1

Emergent Technologies Shaping Instructional Design

Chapter 1

Emergent Technologies Shaping Instructional Design

Chapter 1

Emergent Technologies Shaping Instructional Design